ALEX G. SPANOS

Chairman of Board/President

The San Diego Chargers have become one of the emerging teams in the National Football League, thanks to a major rebuilding of the squad that Alex G. Spanos inherited when he purchased majority interest in the Chargers Aug. 1, 1984.

The Chargers figure to be one of the teams to watch as pro football moves toward the 1990s, a young team with exciting potential that reflects a man who has carved a remarkable career in business and whose dedication to family, career, and community has been an inspiring example for others.

Alexander Gus Spanos is the son of Greek immigrants. He was born September 28, 1923, in Stockton, California. At age 8 Alex began working in his father's restaurant, often rising early in the morning to help prepare pastries before he attended school. In 1951 he borrowed $800, purchased a truck, and began his own catering business, serving migrant farm workers in the San Joaquin Valley. Spanos later began investing in real estate and in 1960 formed the A.G. Spanos Construction Company, which became one of the largest apartment builders in the United States.

Spanos's determination and success is such that in 1986 he was one of a select group of 80 Americans to be awarded the Ellis Island Medal of Honor by the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation and the New York Statue of Liberty Commission. In a special ceremony on Ellis Island, New York, the honorees were cited for being "outstanding American citizens who have distinguished themselves in their respective fields of endeavor, while preserving the values of their particular heritages."

In 1989 Spanos received the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith's National Distinguished Community Service award for devotion to community and concern for others.

When Sal Aunese, a former San Diego-area high school football star now attending the University of Colorado, was stricken with cancer, Alex Spanos made his company jet available to Aunese's family. The family was able to visit and support Aunese while he underwent treatment in Colorado.

When 13-year-old Josh Kaplan's parents issued an urgent plea for San Diegans to undergo expensive blood typing, Spanos came to their aid. He paid for the testing of Chargers players and staff and urged San Diego businesses to do the same with their employees in the search for a compatible bone marrow donor for Josh, a leukemia patient from the San Diego area, and the more than 9,000 others awaiting bone marrow transplants nationwide.

Those were not isolated incidents.

Spanos has demonstrated his commitment to other persons and causes and to the making of the Chargers into one of pro football's top organizations. He has signed important draft choices and aggressively pursued the NFL free agent market. Spanos also modernized the team's football facilities with a state-of-the-art training facility at the Chargers' summer camp at University of California at San Diego and an Astroturf field at the Chargers' in-season practice facility at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium. The team's lockerroom facilities at the Stadium also have been renovated. The Alex G. Spanos Athletic and Recreation Building on the UCSD campus serves the university's student population during the school year.

Spanos's acquisition of the Chargers culminated a lifelong interest and involvement in sports. He earned varsity letters in swimming and diving at University of the Pacific in Stockton and later distinguished himself as an amateur golfer. Spanos was a member of the winning teams in the 1977 Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Desert and the Bob Hope British Pro-Am in Epsom, England, in 1980.

Spanos is Honorary Regent of the University of the Pacific and a Trustee at the Eisenhower Medical Center in Palm Springs. He has donated substantially to benefit critically ill youngsters at Children's Hospital and Health Center in San Diego. In 1985 Spanos was chairman of San Diego Children's Hospital's first Miracle Network Telethon. In 1987 Spanos served as chairman of the San Diego County Easter Seals Telethon and was chairman of the Loaned Executive campaign during the annual United Way/CHAD drive in San Diego County.

Alex and his lovely wife Faye have four children, Dean, Dea, Alexis (Mrs. Barry Ruhl), and Michael. Alex and Faye have six grandchildren and maintain residences in Tarpon Springs, Florida, and Palm Springs, California.

Other Chargers partners include Bill Fox, Ernest Hahn, former majority owner Barron Hilton, George Pernicano, Robert Reiss, and the estate of Willametta K. Day.

DEAN SPANOS

Vice Chairman

As Vice Chairman of the Chargers' organization, Dean A. Spanos brings broad business and financial expertise. Since 1984, Dean has taken a leading role in the management and administration of personnel and fiscal affairs for the organization.

For the last nineteen years, Dean also has been working with his father, Alex G. Spanos, in apartment construction in various capacities. Currently, Dean is President of the Spanos corporate organization, and Vice Chairman of the AGS Financial Corporation.

Dean attended the University of the Pacific, from which he received his degree in business administration in 1972. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, serving as a Regent at the University.

Dean combines a busy career in football and business with an active life as a sportsman. An avid golfer since his college years, Dean has entered many prestigious golf tournaments on his ranking as an amateur. His favorite turf has been the Bob Hope Desert Classic and the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament. In 1985, with his professional partner Hubert Green, Dean won the Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach; Dean also was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy as the amateur player who helped his professional partner the most in the tournament. Spanos also was on the winning team in the Seniors' Reunion Tournament in Dallas with Billy Casper in 1985.

Dean Alexander Spanos was born in Stockton, California, May 26, 1950, and attended Lincoln High School. He lives in La Jolla with his wife, Susan, and their sons, Alexander Gus (July 2, 1977) and John Dean (Nov. 7, 1979).

STEVE ORTMAYER

Director of Football Operations 15th NFL Season 3rd Season with Chargers

Ortmayer took over the reins of the Chargers' football program Jan. 27, 1987, when he was named Director of Football Operations.

Ortmayer has been responsible for the acquisition of some of the brightest young talent in the National Football League.

In his first major undertaking with the Chargers since coming from their AFC West rival, Los Angeles Raiders, Ortmayer made "all the right moves" and "chose the best in the 1987 NFL draft" among the 28 teams, according to some of football's leading experts.

Ortmayer continued to produce in the 1988 collegiate draft. The selection of "home run hitters" such as wide receivers Anthony Miller and Quinn Early, chosen in the first and third rounds, respectively, made an immediate impact. In total, eight of Ortmayer's ten draft choices earned a spot on the 1988 roster, a feat in itself, and five cracked the starting lineup.

In 1989, Ortmayer was one of the NFL's top pursuers of veteran talent through the Plan B Free Agency plan. He outbid other NFL teams for the services of 11 experienced veterans, including nine starters on other teams.

Through the draft, Ortmayer and the Chargers were able to claim "the most talented defensive lineman in the draft," Burt Grossman, according to Pro Football Weekly. The team also tabbed a quarterback in the second round "with a quick trigger and shotgun arm" in Billy Joe Tolliver.

The 45-year-old executive came to the Chargers from the Los Angeles Raiders, where he served as director of football operations from 1978 and special teams coach from 1979. During his nine seasons in Oakland and Los Angeles, Ortmayer and the Raiders participated in playoff action five times while taking home two Super Bowl rings (following the 1980 and 1983 seasons).

Ortmayer is a veteran of 14 NFL seasons, beginning in 1975 with the Kansas City Chiefs. He served as special teams coach for the Chiefs until joining the Raiders in 1978. It was with the Chiefs under head coach Paul Wiggin that Ortmayer became involved in pro personnel, an area in which his responsibilities expanded when he joined the Raiders.

The first assignment of his nine-year collegiate coaching career was in 1967 as a graduate assistant at the University of Colorado. He became offensive line coach in 1968 and was an offensive and defensive assistant until he became the offensive line coach at Georgia Tech in 1974.

Conrad Stephen Ortmayer was born Feb. 13, 1944, in the Cleveland suburb of Painesville, Ohio. He attended Highland Park High in Dallas, Texas, where his father was a professor of theology and the arts at Southern Methodist University. Ortmayer played one season at Vanderbilt University, then transferred to LaVerne College in LaVerne, California, 60 miles east of Los Angeles and played three seasons at center. Steve obtained a degree in English and physical education upon graduation in 1967.

Steve and his wife, Merylee, reside in Rancho Sante Fe with their two sons, Beau (Jan. 22, 1980) and Cody (Sept. 1, 1985).

DAN HENNING

Head Coach
15th NFL Season
2nd Season with Chargers

The San Diego Chargers reached into their past and named former quarterback Dan Henning the eighth head coach in team history Feb. 9, 1989.

Since his beginnings in pro football as a backup quarterback with the Chargers in the mid-1960's, Henning turned to a career in coaching and has become one of the most innovative teachers in the game. And with success for a NFL coach measured by the ultimate victory — a Super Bowl win — Henning has reached the pinnacle twice.

The 47-year-old Bronx, New York, native came to the Chargers from the Washington Redskins, for whom he tutored the passing game and quarterbacks in 1987-88, helping lead the Redskins to a 42-10 victory over the Denver Broncos in Super Bowl XXII played in San Diego. He was instrumental in reviving the career of Super Bowl MVP quarterback Doug Williams. Henning earned his first Super Bowl ring following the 1982 season — a 27-17 win over Miami in Super Bowl XVII — while serving as the Redskins' assistant head coach.

In between Super Bowl victories, the Atlanta Falcons summoned Henning to lead their team as head coach, his first head coaching assignment. In four seasons with Henning at the helm, 1983-86, the Falcons improved dramatically in many offensive and defensive categories. The defense jumped from twenty-fifth in 1983 to seventh in the NFL in 1986 while the offense proved powerful on the ground with the third-ranked running game in both 1985-86.

Henning has coached fourteen seasons in the National Football League, beginning as an assistant coach with the Houston Oilers in 1972. The former college and professional quarterback worked with the quarterbacks and receivers at Houston. He returned to the NFL in 1976 as the quarterbacks and receivers coach of the New York Jets in 1976 through 1978, coaching quarterback Richard Todd into one of league's top passers. Henning coached the same positions for Don Shula and the Miami Dolphins, 1979-80, and for the Redskins, 1981-82. Following four seasons as Atlanta's head coach, he returned to Washington in 1987.

Upon retiring as a player, Henning began his coaching career on the college level, tutoring the quarterbacks and receivers at Florida State from 1968-70 and 1974. He also served as offensive coordinator at Virginia Tech in 1971 and '73, helping build Don Strock into an NFL quarterback. He also coached future NFL QBs Gary Huff and Bill Cappleman at Florida State.

Dan starred four seasons as a collegiate quarterback at William & Mary and finished fourteenth in the nation in passing yardage as a senior in 1963. He entered the professional ranks with the Chargers during the preseason of 1964, before continuing in the Continental League with Springfield, Mass., the same season. Henning played for the Norfolk Neptunes in 1965 before coming back to the Chargers as a free agent in 1966, earning a spot on the roster though he did not attempt a pass. Dan was with San Diego again in the 1967 preseason before finishing his playing career in 1967 at Norfolk.

Daniel Ernest Henning was born June 21, 1942, in Bronx, New York. He was an all-League and all-City performer for the St. Francis Prep Terriers in Brooklyn, playing football, basketball, and baseball. He obtained a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1964 from William & Mary. Henning is a sports enthusiast, especially golf and racquetball. Dan and his wife, Sandy, have three daughters — Mary (Oct. 31, 1961), Patty (Nov. 13, 1962), and Terry (June 6, 1968) — and two sons — Dan (June 22, 1965) and Mike (Jan. 30, 1973) — and reside in the Mt. Helix area of La Mesa.

Henning served as Chargers' backup quarterback in 1965 and returned as San Diego's eighth head coach Feb. 9, 1989 (below).

1st Season with Chargers

Larry Beightol was named to the coaching staff Feb. 15, 1989, after serving the last two seasons as the offensive line coach of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Beightol (BECK-tall) worked in the same capacity under head coach Dan Henning for the Atlanta Falcons, 1985-86.

While under Beightol in Atlanta, the Falcons' running game jumped from fifteenth to third in the NFL in both 1985 and '86 and offensive linemen Bill Fralic and Mike Kenn developed into Pro Bowl performers.

Beightol coached 17 years on the collegiate level before coming to the NFL. He served as offensive coordinator at Missouri (1983-84); offensive coordinator at Arkansas (1980-82); head coach at Louisiana Tech (1979); offensive coordinator at Arkansas (1977-78); offensive coordinator at Auburn (1976); North Carolina State offensive line coach (1972-75), and William & Mary offensive line coach (1968-71). GUNTHER CUNNINGHAM

Defensive Line

8th NFL Season

5th Season with Chargers

Now in his fifth season with the Chargers, Cunningham has developed one of the best defensive lines in the league. The group finished second in the NFL with a club record 62 sacks in 1986, followed by an AFC-high 45 sacks in 1987.

Cunningham joined the Chargers' Jan. 7, 1985, as special defensive assistant and coordinator in evaluation of pro personnel before he assumed his present role January 31, 1985.

Cunningham was the defensive line coach for the Indianapolis Colts, 1982-84. Prior to joining the NFL, Gunther served one year as the defensive line and linebacker coach for the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League in 1981. Cunningham has been a collegiate or professional coach since he was graduated from the University of Oregon, where he was a linebacker and placekicker from 1966-68. He coached the Ducks' defensive line for three seasons (1969-71) before moving to Arkansas as a part-time secondary coach (1972) and then to Stanford to handle the defensive line (1973-76).

Gunther Manfred Cunningham was born June 19, 1946, in Munich, Germany. He moved to Lompoc, California, in 1962 and attended Lompoc High. Gunther received a degree in anthropology from Oregon. BOBBY JACKSON

Offensive Backs

7th NFL Season

3rd Season with Chargers

Jackson joined the Chargers in 1987, after a four-year stint with the Atlanta Falcons where he coached linebackers (1983-85) and H-backs and tight ends (1986).

Jackson's college coaching career spans eighteen years. Jackson coached linebackers and defensive ends at Florida State (1965-69), was linebacker coach and defensive coordinator at Kansas State (1970-74) and held the same responsibilities in 1975-76 at Louisville. He went to Tennessee as running backs coach in 1977 and later coached linebackers and was defensive coordinator for the Volunteers (1980-82).

He was coached at both schools by Bobby Bowden. He was graduated from Howard in 1963 with a degree in physical education, in which he later earned a master's degree at George Peabody College in Nashville (now part of Vanderbilt University). CHARLIE JOINER

Receivers

21st NFL Season

14th Season with Chargers

Joiner made the switch from the NFL's all-time leading wide receiver to the Chargers' receivers coach in 1987, after retiring from an 18-year career with 750 catches and 12,146 yards, both NFL records upon his retirement.

While playing in Houston (1969-72), Cincinnati (1972-75), and San Diego (1976-86), Joiner was an indestructible force, playing in 239 games, a record for wide receivers.

After coming in a trade from Cincinnati in 1976 for defensive tackle Coy Bacon, Joiner became the Chargers' all-time leading receiver with 586 receptions. He played in 194 consecutive games from 1973-86, 163 with the Chargers, and was named the team's most inspirational player for the seventh consecutive time after the 1986 season. Charlie was awarded Pro Bowl honors following the 1976, '79, and '80 seasons. He was honored by the City of San Diego on "Charlie Joiner Day" twice, once in 1984 and 1986.

Joiner was selected in the fourth round of the 1969 NFL draft by Houston as a defensive back and was later traded to Cincinnati in 1972 for running back Fred Willis and Paul Robinson.

Charlie Joiner, Jr., was born Oct. 14, 1947, in Many, Louisiana, and grew up in Lake Charles, La. Charlie was a four-year letterman at Grambling State University, 1965-68. He played football for the W.O. Boston High Panthers in Lake Charles. Joiner and his wife, Dianne, made their home in Houston during his playing career where he worked as a management trainee for Gulf Oil's accounting department in the off-season. The Joiners and their two daughters, Jynaya (April 11, 1975) and Kori (Oct. 29, 1976), reside in Rancho Bernardo.

RON LYNN

Defensive Coordinator

4th NFL Season

4th Season with Chargers

Since Ron Lynn came to the Chargers and the National Football League Jan. 19, 1986, the Chargers' defense has made great improvement. With Lynn calling signals from the booth, the defense has improved dramatically from its number 28 NFL ranking in 1985. In just two seasons, the defense had improved to 15th in the league, though injuries at key positions dropped the ranking to 21st a year ago. The defense's aggressive, attacking style catapulted the NFL's poorest pass defense in 1985 to the fourth best in just two seasons, the best ranking against the pass since the Chargers joined the NFL in 1970.

In Lynn's first year with the Chargers, the team set a club record with 62 quarterback sacks and recovered an NFL-high 22 fumbles while finishing seventh against the run.

Lynn coordinated the defense of the Oakland Invaders of the USFL, 1983-85. Lynn's defense led the league in sacks in 1983 with 74 while finishing third in overall defense. His 1985 squad finished second against the run, allowing 101.8 yards a game.

Before joining the Invaders, he spent three seasons at California, the last two as defensive coordinator, 1981-82. Lynn was defensive coordinator at the University of the Pacific in 1979 and at San Jose State, 1977-78. Lynn also coached at Kent State (1974-76), Mt. Union College (1968-73), and Toledo (1966-67).

Ronald William Lynn was born Dec. 6, 1944, in Youngstown, Ohio. He played football and baseball for the Struthers High Wildcats, Struthers, Ohio, and at Mt. Union College, Alliance, Ohio. Lynn received a Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry from Mt. Union College and a Master's degree in education from the University of Toledo. Ron and his wife, Cynthia, reside in Del Mar with their son, Ryon (July 22, 1988).

JOE MADDEN

Special Teams

8th NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

Joe Madden became the Chargers' special teams coach Feb. 13, 1989, bringing seven years of NFL coaching experience with him.

White played 17 seasons in the NFL and his total of 241 games played set the record for offensive linemen. Jeff Van Note retired in 1986 after playing in his 246th game.

White's 241 games played ranks seventh on the all-time list and his 24 playoff games ranks fourth. He missed only six games in 17 seasons and only two with the Chargers, for whom he started 117 of 120 games at right guard, right tackle, or left guard. White was named the Chargers' lineman of the year from 1983-85.

INSTANT REPLAY APPROVED FOR 1989

For the fourth consecutive year, NFL clubs have approved a limited system of Instant Replay on a one-year basis.

The system basically stays the same as in 1988. In 1987, there were 490 plays closely reviewed (defined as a contact to the field, but not necessarily stoppage of play). There were 57 reversals 210 games for an average of one reversal in each four games. In 1986, there were 374 plays closely reviewed resulting in 38 reversals in 224 games.

In 1986, the system was approved by a 23-4-1 vote. In 1987, the vote was 21-7. In 1988, replay was cleared by a 23-5 margin.

The League first experimented in 1976 and 1978. Then in 1985, the NFL used the network feed of nine nationally televised preseason games to experiment with the basic system that later was adopted for 1986 and 1987. A total of 28 plays were examined closely in 1985 (17 confirmed call, 4 were inconclusive, 1 was reversed, and 6 had no replay shown).

Objective of this system:

The clubs feel that on certain plays the telecast viewed by the general public should be used to correct an indisputable error. The system will be used to reverse an on-field decision only when the Replay Official has indisputable visual evidence available to him that warrants the change.

Step-by-step procedure of play review:

The Replay Official will view game action and a play will be replayed immediately on one of the two monitors, while the other monitor continues to record the live feed.

The Replay Official makes a determination if further study of the play is needed. If not, there is no contact with the field and play continues without interruption.

If the Replay Official believes an error may have been made, the Umpire will be contacted via a headset.

The Replay Official will watch replay(s) on one or both monitors and complete his review within a reasonable period after the play is over.

The Replay Official will inform the Umpire of his decision, and the Referee will make the appropriate announcement on the wireless microphone.

The limited Instant Replay system concentrates on plays of possession or touching (e.g., fumbles, receptions, interceptions, muffs) and most plays governed by the sidelines, goal lines, end lines, and line of scrimmage (e.g., receiver or runner in or out of bounds, forward or backward passes, breaking the plane of the goal line).

WEEK 1

at L.A. Raiders 24, San Diego 13 Sunday, Sept. 4

The Chargers fell to the L.A. Raiders in the Coliseum, 24-13, in the hottest game in Chargers' history. In a statistically tight battle, the Raiders scored first in the second quarter and took a 14-3 lead at halftime when rookie Tim Brown returned a kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown. San Diego closed the margin to 17-13 in the fourth quarter when Babe Laufenberg hit Jamie Holland from 24 yards out for the first touchdown of their careers. The Chargers could not move the ball on their final series, surrendering the ball on their own one-yard line, leading to another Raiders' score. The teams were nearly even in most statistical categories, including total yards, first downs, time of possession, and turnovers. Linebacker Billy Ray Smith (calf) and nose tackle Mike Charles (knee) left the game in the first quarter.

San Diego scored back-to-back touchdowns in the second quarter to lead 14-0 at halftime. An 85-yard scoring drive, the team's second longest of the season, culminated with a six-yard pass from Malone to Darren Flutie. Malone pushed it in from one yard for the second score. Two Steve DeLine field goals, from 24 and 42 yards, in the fourth quarter ended San Diego's scoring. Anderson's performance was his fourth 100-yard day of the season and San Diego is 4-0 in those games. Giff Byrd intercepted two passes to raise his team-leading total to six, the most by a Charger since 1983. Ralf Mojsiejenko set a record by raising his season total to 83 punts, surpassing 79 punts in 1962 by Paul McGuire.

Announcing the Miller Lite
NFL Player of the Year Award

There's the best. Then there's the rest.

To honor that distinction among NFL players, Miller Lite is sponsoring an extensive new award program culminating in the naming of an annual NFL Player of the Year.

Every week of the NFL season, 28 players — one from each team — will be selected by press box media. A special media panel then will select a national Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week who will be announced every Wednesday in the USA Today sports section.

At the end of the regular season, six Miller Lite NFL player of the Year candidates will be chosen from among the 16 national NFL Player of the Week winners. Fans then can vote for their choice of NFL Player of the Year — the best of the best.

Look for special fan ballots and sweepstakes information in USA Today during the season.

Fast forward.
